

Ike, Economists Disagree

Some Experts Say President Too Hopeful

Question Whether Employment Will Pick Up In March

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (AP)—Some economists disagreed today with President Eisenhower's prediction that next month will be a possible turning point in business and employment.

"I question that very seriously," said Dr. Marcus Nadler, economist of the Hanover Bank and New York University. He added: "So far the government has been talking but not doing anything."

The stock market closed lower for the sixth straight session. Some key stocks were down fractions to around $1 a share, but drugs and tobacco rose in late dealings. Trading was slow, with many financial institutions closed for Lincoln's Birthday.

Long Boom Weakening

The economists were asked for comment after the President said in a statement that March should see the start of a rise in employment and "the beginning of the end" of the downturn.

Dr. Jules Bogen of New York University said: "We can't eliminate the cyclical forces by just taking them away. We need more remedial steps. Our economy has been weakened by a very prolonged boom."

The vice president of a leading New York bank said: "We should get some signs of bottoming out as we go along. But I don't see how we can pinpoint March or April or any other month."

Retail economist A. W. Zelomek said it may be some time before employment shows any substantial gains.

New Cutbacks Announced

"There was a lot of hoarding of labor during the boom," said Zelomek. "This always happens in good times, when business efficiency lags. Now industry is heading in the opposite direction."

In the wake of the President's statement, there were some new industrial cutbacks.

E. I. du Pont de Nemours said it is laying off 190 nylon workers. R. A. Hrabie manager of the Seaford, Del., plant, said, "Textile market conditions which have forced this curtailment are nationwide."

The major railroads employed 885,971 workers in the middle of January, 11 per cent less than the 996,105 a year ago, the Interstate Commerce Commission reported.

Hike In Freight Rates Approved

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized a railroad freight rate increase averaging about two per cent on most freight items effective at midnight Friday.

The ICC action applies only to interstate freight movements. But the authority took note that the railroad industry is seeking comparable upward revisions in intrastate rates from the state commissions.

The ICC said that if the increases which it sanctioned are applied to both interstate and intrastate traffic, this will mean about 182 million dollars a year in additional revenue for the carriers.

Through public notice, the railroads late last year sought increases averaging three per cent with revisions in operating rules designed to yield around 210 million dollars a year.

Dewey Declines To Give Inquiry Law Firm Files

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Post-Dispatch said today former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has refused to furnish records of his law firm to a House subcommittee investigating charges the firm performed "nonlegal services" for a $150,000 fee.

Details of the Dewey refusal are contained in a memorandum from the subcommittee's legal and investigative staff, the Post-Dispatch said in a copyrighted story dispatched from Washington.

The Post-Dispatch said it had been able to examine the memo, which has not been made public.

The charge, which Dewey has denied, was made to the subcommittee on legislative oversight by representatives of Pan American World Airways.

The firing by the subcommittee of its chief counsel, Dr. Bernard Schwartz, and the resignation of the chairman, Rep. Moulder (D-Mo) leaves the question undecided whether the subcommittee will go into the case.

Pan American, which lost a contest to Eastern Air Lines for the nonstop route from New York-Washington to Mexico City, charged that Dewey's firm received $150,000 to "put the New York-Mexico City case through the board (Civil Aeronautics Board) and the White House for Eastern."

Another charge, the Post-Dispatch said, was that the eventual 3-to-2 board majority for Eastern was brought about by a switch in votes from Pan American to Eastern "caused by a telephone call from the White House on the day of the board's decision."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—Rep. Miller (R-Md) said today he has filed for re-election to the House from Maryland's First District.

GOP Orators Lash Demo "Gloom, Doom Brigade"

(By The Associated Press)

Republicans in Lincoln Day speeches Wednesday night launched an attack on what one speaker called a Democratic attempt to "sell America short."

GOP orators also extolled the accomplishments and aims of the Eisenhower administration in the fields of economics, defense, science, foreign policy, agriculture, foreign trade and civil rights.

Three Cabinet officers were among the speakers who roamed the banquet circuit in search of votes to elect a Republican-controlled Congress in November.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks sounded the most vehement battle cry in a speech prepared for a party rally in Brooklyn. He said the "Democratic gloom and doom brigade's whole program boils down to three words: 'Sell America short.'"

Weeks said Republicans are going to slug back and "nail every reckless charge... hit-hard-but we'll fight clean." He said launching of the Explorer satellite "founded our critics."

Secretary of Labor Mitchell told a National Republican Club dinner in New York that despite rising unemployment Republicans this year could campaign on an administration economic record "unmatched in our history."

Secretary of Agriculture Benson went to his home town of Salt Lake City to plug the administration's new farm program of lower prices supports and less production control. He expressed concern over what he termed the "price-cost squeeze" still facing the farmers and called on business and labor to refrain from actions that would raise farm production costs still further.

Jordan, Iraq Unite Today

AMMAN, Jordan, Feb. 12 (AP)—Kings Hussein of Jordan and Faisal II of Iraq will retain their thrones when their countries unite under a single flag and foreign policy within the next 24 hours, authoritative sources said tonight.

An official communique said after a day of discussions between the kings and their ministers: "To our satisfaction the discussions took place in a spirit of brotherly understanding and complete agreement on national objectives which the two parties seek to reach."

Hussein and Faisal, 22-year-old Hashemite cousins, plan to sign the proclamation tomorrow.

The two Arab kingdoms reportedly will share single foreign, defense and economic ministries, as well as one army.

There will be one parliament for the two countries, but each also will have its own legislative body.

Hussein, who wields large authority in Jordan, and Faisal, who has much less in Iraq, will continue to be kings. There had been reports that Hussein might step down to become crown prince of the union.

Iranian Bandit Dies Before Firing Squad

TEHRAN, Iran, Feb. 12 (AP)—A bandit, who, confessed murdering an American wife after a desert ambush last March, was shot at dawn today.

The bandit, Ahmed Shah, confessed during a court-martial that he killed Anita Carroll of Issaquah, Wash. She had been kidnapped by a gang led by the bandit Dadshah after it ambushed two jeeps in the southeastern Iranian desert.

Mrs. Carroll's husband, Kevin Carroll, 37, a Point Four official in Iran; and Brewster A. Wilson, 35, of Portland, Ore., a Near East Foundation official, were killed in the ambush along with two Iranians accompanying them.

Congress GOP Groups Accept Spurned Funds

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—The chairmen of the Senate and House Republican Campaign committees said today they will accept the $100,000 raised by a Houston, Tex., party dinner and spurned by the GOP National Committee.

Interviewed by telephone, Sen. Schoepel (R-Kan.) and Rep. Simpson (R-Pa.) said Chairman Meade Alcorn's statement that the GOP National Committee will not accept funds from the dinner does not apply to their committees.

Alcorn's refusal was announced yesterday, with White House approval.

Schoepel and Simpson joined in condemning the action of H. J. Porter, Texas GOP national committeeman, in appealing for contributions on the ground that Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr., House minority leader, had helped obtain House passage of the natural gas bill in the past and was being counted on to rally support for it this year.

But Schoepel and Simpson made it clear their indignation was not so great as to cause them—as it did Alcorn—to turn their backs on $100,000 in campaign contributions.

"I knew nothing about the Porter letter until I read portions of it in the papers," Schoepel said when he was reached in Independence, Kan. "It was unfortunate and does not bespeak the attitude of the Republicans of Texas who contributed honestly to help elect Republican senators and congressmen."

"We are certainly not going to take the position, however, that any money forwarded to us by the Republican State Finance Committee of Texas will not be accepted."

Five Feared Dead In Mine Slate Fall

MAN, W. Va., Feb. 12 (AP)—A heavy slate fall occurred in the Amherst Coal Company's Lundale Mine tonight, and State Mines Chief Crawford Wilson said in Charleston that two were found dead and three others are believed dead.

Wilson said the fall was 100 feet long, 18 feet wide and four feet thick.

The trapped men were working a coal loading machine when the fall came without warning.

Bigger Satellite Before April 1 Army's Aim

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—Sen. Barrett (D-Wyo.) said today Army missile experts hope to put in orbit before April 1 a satellite weighing several hundred pounds.

"It will be from 10 to 15 times larger than the Explorer," Barrett, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said in an interview.

Secret Files Returned By Sen. Morse

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—House investigators retrieved three heaps of secret files today from Sen. Morse (D-Ore.), who said the documents show the Eisenhower administration is honeycombed with political immorality.

At the same time, the investigating group subpoenaed Dr. Bernard Schwartz, its ousted chief counsel, to testify tomorrow about his charge that a member of the Federal Communications Commission received a money payment in connection with the award of a TV license.

Schwartz turned what he called his "personal working files" on a six-month investigation over to Morse after Schwartz was fired Monday night by the House subcommittee on legislative oversight, which is looking into the FCC and five other regulatory agencies.

Morse Asks Senate Probe

In returning the files to the subcommittee, Morse called for a separate Senate investigation of alleged pressure on the agencies by White House and other high Republican figures. Morse's proposal got no immediate support, however, and the inquiry remained in the House group's hands.

Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) said he wants the subcommittee to make a "real thorough investigation" and not just do "a lot of pin-pricking."

Plainly smarting over charges by Schwartz and others that powerful interests turned the inquiry into a whitewash, Rayburn said any suggestion he tried to whittle down the investigation "is utterly and viciously false."

Schwartz said yesterday the subcommittee fired him even though it knew he had evidence of a payoff in a TV case. Several members of the group denied having any such information, and Schwartz was served with a subpoena this afternoon in an effort to make him explain his charge.

Had Offered To Appear

The 34-year-old New York lawyer previously had offered to appear Monday of his own free will, but said he had personal business in New York which would make it difficult to appear this week.

Schwartz has attempted to get bank records and other documents from FCC member Richard Mack in connection with the granting of a license for TV Channel 10 in Miami.

The subcommittee met this afternoon under the chairmanship of Rep. Harris (D-Ark.), who took over the post after Chairman Moulder (D-Mo) resigned in protest against Schwartz's ouster.

"I have the files," Harris said before going into the closed session.

A clerk then wheeled them in. They were contained in a large beige suitcase with the initials "B. S." a suit box and a smaller carton.

Emergency Defense Bill Signed By Ike

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—President Eisenhower has signed an emergency bill providing $1,410,000,000 to speed up the missile and air-defense programs.

The bill appropriates $1,260,000,000 in cash and authorizes the Defense Department to use $150,000,000 additional from previously appropriated money.

The cash includes $350,000,000 for the Navy and $910,000,000 for the Air Force. The Navy allotment contains funds to start work on three atomic-powered submarines capable of firing the Polaris missile.

The President also signed a related bill authorizing the Defense Department to proceed with construction of a ballistic missile detection system and to enable the Strategic Air Command to disperse its planes over more bases.

Gas Shortage Hits Parts Of Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 12 (AP)—A temporary heating gas shortage developed in some sections of Greater Kansas City today as the temperature dropped to five above. It was the coldest day of the year here.

Because of demand, incoming lines of Cities Service Gas Co. were overtaxed, a company spokesman said.

All industry has been cut off in the affected area to increase pressure.

Customers were asked to cut their home temperature down to 60 degrees and conserve gas any way possible.

French Patrol Boat Fired On By Tunisians

African Nation Demands French Troops Get Out

TUNIS, Feb. 12 (AP)—Tunisia demanded today the evacuation of all French forces as the price of restoring French-Tunisian friendship. The government underscored its demand with a display of increased hostility, including firing on a French patrol boat at Bizerte.

In retaliation for France's air attack on the border village of Sakiet Sidi Youssef Saturday, Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba told France to pull out her 15,000 troops and give up her strategic naval base at Bizerte.

But the French showed no signs of bowing to Tunisian demands.

In Paris, the French were reliably reported ready to seek to have all French bases in Tunisia brought directly under command of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Then Bourguiba would have to deal with the 15-nation military force of the NATO Alliance.

Tunisians Demonstrate

Although Tunisia is not a member of the alliance, she is friendly to the West. She has received both financial and military aid from NATO's biggest member — the United States.

Bourguiba's demand for the removal of French garrisons came after he talked with a string of foreign diplomats, including U.S. Ambassador G. Lewis Jones. As they conferred, an angry crowd of Tunisians outside the presidential palace clamored for action.

"Out with the French," they cried. "Give us arms."

They broke up and went home after Bourguiba announced his demand for the removal of French forces.

"That and that alone can re-establish a climate of friendship cleansed of the remains of colonialism," he said.

French Base Barricaded

As he spoke his weakening army defied French might. National Guard troops barricaded the French military bases. Trucks loaded of Tunisian troops rushed to Bizerte to build defenses around the entrances to the port's excellent, natural harbor.

Orders for the buildup came after Tunisian forces fired with small arms at a French naval patrol craft trying to slip out of the harbor last night. When the firing started, the craft returned to the base.

Strongest Of Two Explorer Radio Voices Dies Out

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Defense Department said today signals from one of two radio transmitters in the American Explorer satellite apparently have stopped.

The transmitter, originally expected to function for from two to three weeks, was the more powerful of two encased in the 30-pound satellite.

The satellite was launched by the Army on the night of Jan. 31. If the batteries have gone dead, they lasted less than 12 days.

The Naval Research Laboratory, which has charge of tracking the satellite, said, "Today's Explorer passes over the mini-track system have produced no signals on the 108.03 band." It said signals continued to come in strong from the second transmitter in the satellite. Predictions were that one would operate from two to three months.

Teamsters Union Facing Legal Bill For Half-Million

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 12 (AP)—The Teamsters Union tonight was reported facing a half-million dollar legal bill resulting from the compromise court suit which tried to block James R. Hoffa from becoming the union's president.

Godfrey P. Schmidt, attorney for the 13 rank-and-file New York Teamsters Union members who were plaintiffs in the case, has served notice he will seek $300,000 as fee and expenses.

"I'd say that's about right," Schmidt said when contacted in New York about the reported figure.

Schmidt's fee to be paid by the union, will need prior approval from U.S. Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Lettis in Washington.

It was indicated the plaintiffs' costs, plus the union's own defense costs, will run the bill to

WILL RETIRE — Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and senator from Virginia for 25 years, announced yesterday in Washington that he will not be a candidate for re-election this year. (AP Photofax)

Byrd Surprises By Announcing His Retirement

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) announced today he will close a 43-year public career next January with retirement from the Senate.

His announcement, which came as a surprise to many of his colleagues who joined in lauding the 70-year old Virginian, will take out of public life Congress' chief advocate of governmental economy.

Byrd's decision not to run again throws open a senatorial post for which one or more of four former Democratic governors might be a candidate. It revives slender Republican hopes of gaining a seat in a state President Eisenhower twice carried. Byrd withheld his support in 1952 and 1956 from Adlai Stevenson, Eisenhower's Democratic opponent.

In his announcement, which he wrote out in longhand, Byrd said he had promised Mrs. Byrd six years ago when he was re-elected to his present term he would not seek another.

"Since then," he said, "she has suffered a crippling illness and is an invalid. It is our desire to spend our lives together at home in Virginia."

For many months Mrs. Byrd has been transported to Washington and back to their Berryville, Va., home by ambulance when the senator found it necessary to stay in the capital several days.

Byrd, who had directed the Virginia Democratic organization from the time he was sworn in as governor in 1926, said that in retirement "I will never lose my interest in public affairs." He will be 71 next June 10.

"As a private in the ranks, throughout the years to come, I will do all I can for good government in Virginia and the nation," he said.

Declaring that his love for Virginia and her people "has been the guiding star of my life," Byrd said his public life which began in the Virginia State Senate in 1915 when he was 27 years old, "has been a career of high privilege and great pleasure to me."

"The people of Virginia have been tolerant of my errors and generous in their support," he said, "within the scope of my limited capabilities, I have given the best in me to the discharge of the great responsibilities with which I have been entrusted."

Ford Earnings Rise

DETROIT, Feb. 12 (AP)—Ford Motor Co. today reported net earnings for 1957 of $282,000,000, equal to $5.20 per share, compared with $236,600,000 net earnings or $4.38 a share in 1956.

Eisenhower Sees Upturn Next Month

Government Steps To Help Business Listed By President

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—President Eisenhower, in an optimistic statement on the economic situation, said today that March should mark the beginning of the end of the downturn.

From other quarters, however, came predictions that the situation will get worse before it gets better. Some economists pressed doubts that the upturn will come as quickly as the administration believes.

Eisenhower expressed concern over joblessness, which rose to 4½ million in January, and over the shorter work week in effect in some industries. He said he believed "we have had most of our bad news on the unemployment front."

"I am convinced that we are not facing a prolonged downswing in activity," he added. "Every indication is that March will see the start of a pickup in job opportunities."

Recovery Aids Listed

The President issued what he called a fact paper showing what the government is doing to foster economic recovery. He listed public works projects and highway programs, new defense contracts, housing aids and softer credit policies.

"If other measures are needed, I assure you they will be proposed and in time," Eisenhower declared.

As one means of improving the economy, Eisenhower unveiled Tuesday a two-billion-dollar program for modernization of post office buildings and equipment during the next three to five years.

Sen. Kerr Disagrees

Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.) disagreed with Eisenhower's prediction of a March upturn and said the postal program was too "fluffy" to amount to very much.

At the Commerce Department, where the February unemployment is now under way, some concern was expressed that recent bad weather would push the figures higher than anticipated.

Administration officials have acknowledged that unemployment probably will reach five million this month, but they had been counting on a resumption of outdoor work to offset some of the joblessness.

State Trooper's Son Kills Coed

AHOSKIE, N.C., Feb. 12 (AP)—A 16-year-old high school athletic star, son of a highway patrolman, was held today as officers tried vainly to learn what led to the shotgun slaying of a school coed, also 16.

Sobbing constantly, the boy surrendered both himself and a 16-gauge shotgun to officers yesterday after driving aimlessly about for four hours in his father's car.

The boy, Jan Rivers Hackett, told police he had shot the coed, Delores Newsome, but gave no reason. Officials of Ahoskie High School said the two had not dated steadily.

A logging crew found the girl's body beside a road near here at 11 a.m. Tuesday, a half hour after she had left school with young Hackett to get some books, officers said. She had been shot twice in the side.

The boy surrendered to police at Wilson, about 40 miles from here, around 3 p.m. He said he had been driving around because "I didn't know what to do."

Officers said he was highly upset and wept constantly as he told of what happened.

Both youngsters were juniors. The boy, son of Highway Patrol Sgt. John S. Hackett, was the starting fullback on the football team and a center on the basketball team.

Summerfield Launches Fight For Postal Service Program

Demos Argue Plan Wouldn't Give Much Of Lift To Economy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—Postmaster General Summerfield plugged hard today for adoption of the Eisenhower program for modernizing the postal service.

But his argument that this would give the economy a timely lift drew Democratic retorts that it was too small an effort to help much.

Summerfield went before the Senate Post Office Committee to plead for the program which President Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, released Tuesday. Hagerty said then it would be fair to describe it as part of the administration moves to counteract the current slump.

Summerfield, while contending would help combat the recession, also testified that the program was not designed to be a public works program as such. He said its main purpose was to modernize the department and increase its efficiency with new equipment and buildings.

Chairman Johnston (D-S.C.) of the Post Office Committee said more than this was needed to catch up with post office needs, and to help people out of jobs.

Sen. Neuberger (D-Or.) told Summerfield his program is so little it couldn't provide the needed stimulus. Neuberger said Eisenhower had presented it as a plan "to get the people off the floor."

"Oh, he didn't say that," Summerfield replied. But he maintained it would give the economy a boost.

Under the administration plan, private investors would put about 1 1/2 billion dollars into new or renovated buildings which the Post Office Department would rent. About 175 million dollars a year in federal government funds would go for modernization of mail handling methods. The program would last three to five years.

"We are prepared to begin to introduce entirely new mechanical and electronic devices to handle mail," Summerfield said.

Neuberger, who is strenuously opposed to the administration's partnership program with private power, said the post office plan looks like another one in which the government's share of spending would be extremely small.

"Yes," Summerfield agreed. "That is one of the most desirable points in it."

He said it would give people a chance to make safe investments in government-led buildings, help improve the postal service, and stimulate the economy.

Arlington Schools Ordered Integrated

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 12 (AP)—Officials of the State of Virginia and Arlington County suffered another legal setback today in their efforts to keep Negroes out of white schools in the county just across the Potomac River from the nation's capital.

In a terse ruling, the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals upheld an order by Federal District Judge Albert V. Bryan instructing Arlington school officials to admit seven Negro students to four white county schools.

"We think the order was clearly proper for reasons adequately stated in the opinion of the district judge and nothing need be added to what was said there," the circuit court opinion stated. Oral arguments in the case were heard last month at Charlotte, N. C.

Lawyers for the Negro children contended the pupils were denied admission to white schools when they applied last Sept. 9. A hearing was held Sept. 11. Three days later Bryan ruled that the seven children should be admitted to schools nearest their homes—in each case a white school.

Fuentes Is Elected Guatemala President

GUATEMALA, Feb. 12 (AP)—Congress today elected Gen. Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes, 62-year-old Conservative, president of Guatemala.

He received the most votes in the January election, but because he failed to obtain a majority the final choice was thrown to Congress.

The vote was 40 for Ydigoras and 18 for Col. Jose Luis Cruz Salazar, a self-styled middle-roader who came in second in the January balloting.

Supporters of Fuentes cheered wildly as the tellers announced the vote. He will begin a six-year term on March 15.

Ike, Cold Letting Up, Flies South Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—President Eisenhower, planning to fly south tomorrow for a vacation, is continuing to make progress in fighting a cold.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said today that the President's cold is improving each day, but it is not cleared up yet.

Hagerty said Eisenhower's voice still is somewhat husky and that his sore throat continues to bother him some.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower plan to go to Thomasville, Ga. Eisenhower hopes to get in about 10 days of quail hunting and golf.

For a week, the bottles have been blowing their tops in addition to wriggling on the shelves, twisting and jumping and even falling to the floor. (AP Photofax)

Atlas Possible 'Moon' Vehicle

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Air Force plans to use its Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile to launch a reconnaissance satellite.

This bare fact was left in the transcript, made public today after censoring of Secretary of the Air Force James H. Douglas' testimony Friday at a closed door hearing by the House Armed Services Committee.

The Atlas, designed to carry a nuclear warhead to a target 5,000 miles away, has twice been test-fired successfully for smaller distances. The last test ended with the missile destroying itself after launching, for reasons not yet known, at least publicly.

The Air Force also has talked about placing in orbit a satellite much larger than any yet launched and equipped with detection gear, possibly including television, that would send back to earth information about the areas it traversed.

Security censorship of Douglas' testimony left only the statement that the Air Force has plans to use the Atlas to launch an unmanned, reconnaissance satellite.

Japanese Test Plastic Rocket

AKITA, Japan, Feb. 12 (AP)—A Japanese team today launched a plastic rocket, believed to be the world's first. The inventors said it cost about a fifth less than a metal rocket and should give more accurate observations of electrical phenomena.

The tube-shaped rocket was 9 feet long, 3 1/2 inches in diameter, weighed 78 pounds and carried a radio transmitter.

Experts from Tokyo University who sent it up said it climbed to 7,200 feet, then arced down about 33,000 feet off the northwest coast. Its speed was estimated at three times that of sound.

Tar Smokes Rope In His Water Pipe

CARDIFF, Wales, Feb. 12 (AP)—Twice a week Hassan Abdullah Burro walked into a dockside shop here and bought a brand new 34-foot length of clothesline.

The proprietor, finally overwhelmed by curiosity, called in the constabulary. One policeman decided the direct approach was best and asked Burro what he did with all the rope.

"That's easy," said Burro, a little surprised. "I smoke it."

And the 64-year-old seaman from Aden, now working at a landlubber's job, took the cop home and displayed his bubble pipe, one of those things that draw smoke through water.

"I smoke about 15 feet a day," Burro said, "and don't get cancer."

Appeals Court Backs Harford Integration Plan

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 12 (AP)—The U. S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals today upheld a lower court judge's action in approving a "stair-step" desegregation plan for Harford County, Md., schools.

The plan, as approved by District Judge C. J. Thomsen, was amended to provide that qualified Negro students who passed special examinations could be admitted to high school grades pending the end of segregation in those grades.

Negro plaintiffs had brought the appeal on the grounds the schools should be desegregated as rapidly as possible. They contended that the "stair-step" method denied their rights under the 14th amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

The per curiam opinion noted that the county school board had adopted a plan for gradual desegregation of elementary schools over a two-year period and high schools over a period of five years. Judge Thomsen suggested, and the board agreed, that the plan be amended to provide for the transfer of qualified students in high school grades pending the final examination of segregation in those grades.

In today's opinion, the appellate court said the plan "as so amended... was approved by the judge and a decree was entered enforcing it and making special provision for the admission of two Negro children who had been parties to the prior action. The facts are fully set forth in the opinion of the district judge, and we think his discretion was properly exercised for reasons stated in the opinion to which nothing need be added. Affirmed."

Crisis Hardens In Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Feb. 12 (AP)—Indonesia's politico-military crisis hardened today. Commercial flights to rebellious Central Sumatra were canceled. Orders went out for the arrest there of four young colonels as rebel leaders, though they are protected by picked troops.

"Firm action" was pledged by the army's chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution.

Harassed Premier Djuanda called on former Vice President Mohammed Hatta, a conservative pro-Westerner, at Hatta's home. There were reports that he sought Hatta's help as a mediator.

The rebel officers, avowed foes worn by sailors in night operations of communism and corruption, broadcast an ultimatum from Padang Monday demanding that Djuanda's "guided democracy" Cabinet quit and President Sukarno name a new government within five days.

They proposed that Hatta, a Sumatran who broke with Sukarno in 1956, and Sultan Hamengkku, Indonesia's first defense minister, should head a caretaker regime of experts.

Djuanda's Cabinet rejected the ultimatum Tuesday night and ordered dishonorable discharge of the four young colonels.

Stamina Of "Space Trip" Airman Amazes Officials

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 12 (AP)—Air Force officials today expressed guarded optimism over man's ability to withstand the rigors of space travel as Donald G. Farrell neared the halfway mark of his mythical week-long trip to the moon.

"We are consistently surprised at Farrell's continual alertness, lack of fatigue, and especially his lack of boredom," Lt. Col. George R. Steinkamp, chief of space medicine at Randolph Air Force Base, said today.

"One experiment cannot be considered final. We may have in Farrell an unusual subject. But on the basis of this experiment we are optimistic over man's ability to withstand space travel," he told newsmen.

Farrell, described as still bright and chipper, completed his third day in the 3x5-foot sealed cabin at 9:35 a.m. today. He would pass the halfway mark of his seven-day simulated space flight at 9:35 p.m. tonight.

The 23-year-old airman from the Bronx, who is living in the same air pressure that is encountered at 18,000 feet altitude, has been subjected to three emergency summons during the past day.

Shortly after he went to sleep, an emergency bell in his cabin rang and a signal indicated that his oxygen supply was broken.

Singer Johnny Ray Shelves Hearing Aid

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 12 (AP)—Philadelphia's Latin Casino, his first appearance since the operation, and the hearing aid he's worn 19 years, and he hopes the removal is for good.

The 31-year-old Ray underwent surgery on his left ear last Jan. 7 in New York's Mt. Sinai Hospital in an effort to gain near-normal hearing from a bone disease condition that struck him in childhood. The illness left him 55 per cent deficient in both ears.

In 1773, the Rev. Dr. Stephen Hales, an Englishman, discovered that blood has a pressure and was the first to measure it. Ray is appearing in Philadelphia's Latin Casino, his first appearance since the operation, and the hearing aid he's worn 19 years, and he hopes the removal is for good. "I can hear better," Ray said. "And now I hear sounds I never really heard before. And some of the old sounds are different because they are no longer amplified by the aid."

Apparent "Snake" Found In Measure To Outlaw Ad Taxes

Action On Proposal Held Up By Senate, House Committees

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 12 (AP)—A move to declare advertising taxes in Maryland illegal ran into barriers today in the General Assembly.

Both the House Ways and Means and the Senate Finance committees held up action on the proposal to await clarification on whether the wording of the bill might make it broader than intended.

In addition, the House committee exhibited strong feeling about the necessity of a law specifically prohibiting taxes on advertising. The first and only such tax in Maryland went into effect Jan. 1 in Baltimore City and a bill to repeal it will be introduced in the city council Monday.

The House committee stopped just short of giving the proposal an unfavorable report after some members said the action would be misinterpreted to imply they were for taxing advertising.

Most of those who opposed the bill to make it illegal said they were against such a tax but saw no necessity for expressing it by legislation.

In addition, Del. Mandel (D-Balto 5th) uncovered what appeared to be a "snake." The way the bill is worded it appeared that it might exempt advertising mediums from the income or property tax as well as sale of space or time.

This prompted Del. Robinson (D-Balto 4th) to recall that Gov. McKeldin said Monday he would sign an ad tax ban bill "unless, of course, some presently unsuspected snakes find their way into the bill."

"This bill may have some," commented Robinson.

He declared that the legislature had "been placed in an embarrassing position since it might appear they are for an advertising tax" if they killed the bill.

"We are up against the slickest propagandists in the business," he said. "They'll take any action we do and distort it."

At his suggestion, the committee decided to hold the bill and wait for sponsors "to come down and defend it," as Robinson put it.

Del. McNeal (D-Balto 3rd) then withdrew his motion for an unfavorable report. To observers it appeared that a majority of the committee would have voted for it if given the opportunity.

The bill was sponsored by the Maryland Advertising Council and according to Sen. Goldstein (D-Calvert) is supported by the Baltimore city administration and state candidates seeking the Democratic nominations for statewide offices.

Goldstein is running for comptroller.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore, the ticket's candidate for U.S. senator, instigated a city tax on advertising this year.

He announced Saturday night he will ask to repeal it at the end of this year.

The Baltimore tax "was purely a local matter and it already has been solved," said Robinson in questioning the "necessity for this bill" to declare it illegal statewide.

Baltimore Mystery Blast Investigated

BALTIMORE, Feb. 12 (AP)—Police investigated a mysterious blast which rocked the suburban Dundalk area and knocked down at least four persons today.

One officer at the Dundalk police station said he was knocked from his chair.

A woman said she was thrown out of bed. Others said they were knocked to the ground.

Police came up with no immediate answer.

Friendship International Airport said no jet aircraft capable of causing such a blast was in the area at the time.

Baltimore county police and fire switchboards were flooded with calls for nearly an hour after the mid-morning blast.

Baltimore Bank Robber Flees With $35,000

BALTIMORE, Feb. 12 (AP)—A lone gunman robbed a suburban branch bank of about $35,000 today after threatening four bank employees and several customers he would shoot anyone who got in his way.

He sped away in a car that later was found parked not far away. But there was no trace of the bandit.

The robber walked in, pulled a pistol from his pocket and backed those in the Sparrows Point branch of the Provident Savings Bank against the wall.

He handed a bag to one of the women tellers and told her to fill it up. "And do it quick or someone will get shot," he told her.

He was described as about 6 feet tall, between 25 and 30 years old, with a mole on his right cheek.

The bandit made his escape in a two-tone car reported stolen earlier in Baltimore. It was found abandoned about six blocks from the bank. Police said he apparently switched cars.

The robber walked into the bank and over to where the manager, Charles Beck, was talking with a customer.

"This is a holdup," he said as he pulled a blue-steel pistol from his pocket.

Then he lined up Beck, three tellers and five customers against the wall.

He handed Miss Winnie Jones, a 19-year-old teller, a canvas bag and made her hold it as he walked from cage to cage stuffing it with money.

Then he ordered Miss Jones to open a locked vault at the rear of the office. When he became convinced she didn't know how to open it, Beck did.

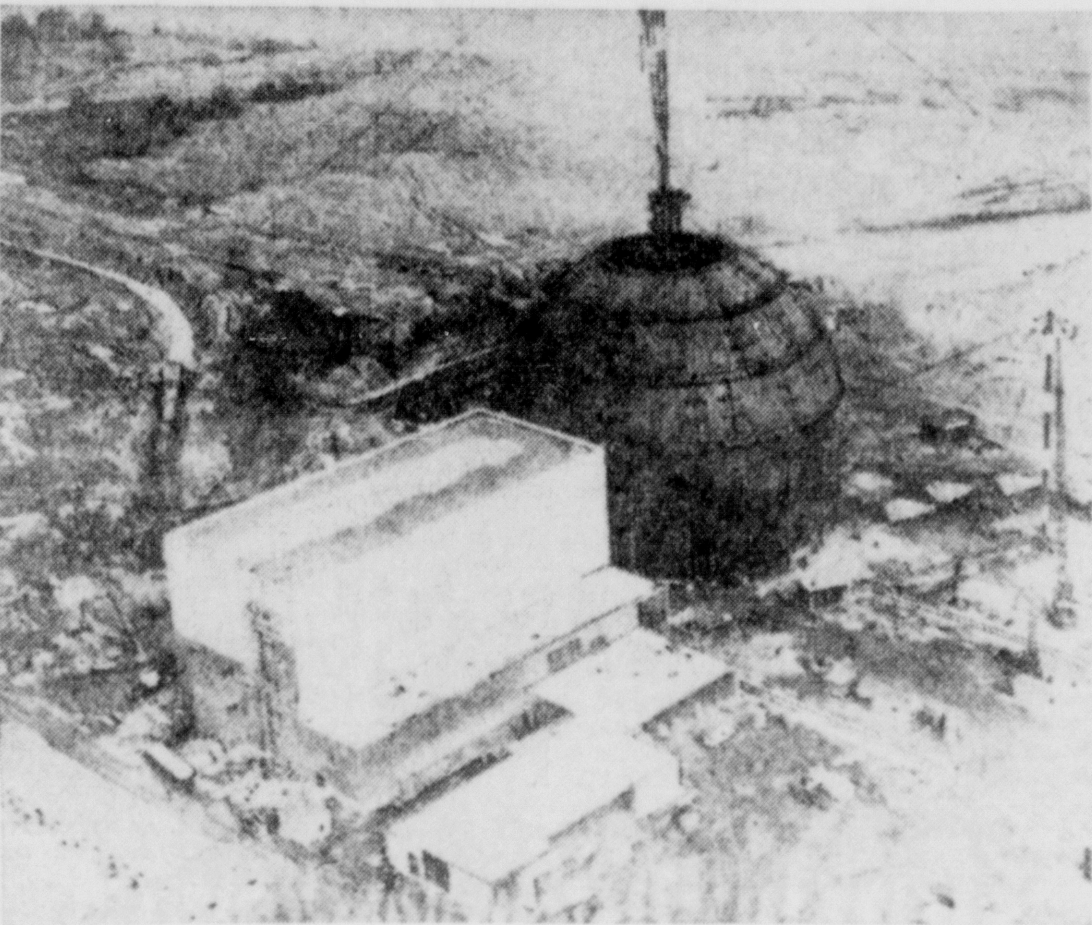

After the gunman emptied what money there was in the vault, he ordered the employees and customers to remain standing against the wall until he left.

They said the bag in which he put the money was so heavy he had to drag it across the bank floor.

342 Business Failures

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (AP)—More business firms failed last week than in any week in nearly 18 years, according to Dun & Bradstreet.

Failures in the week ended Feb. 6 totaled 342, highest since April 1940. This compared with 326 in the preceding week and 287 in the like 1957 week. The latest total was 9 above the figure for the week ending Jan. 23 which also was an 18-year high.

NUCLEAR POWER PLANT RISES — The Dresden station, the country's largest all-nuclear power plant, takes shape on the Illinois waterway 50 miles southwest of Chicago. The steel sphere, 190 feet in diameter, will house the boiling water reactor assembly which will supply power for the turbines to be housed in the buildings alongside. The $45,000,000 plant, a Commonwealth Edison project, is scheduled to be completed by mid-1960. It will produce 180,000 kilowatts of power when operating. (AP Photofax)

Legislative Sidelights

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 12 (AP)—Legislation to set up 1,600 general college scholarships over a four-year period was received today by the Senate.

The measure, similar to one sponsored by Del. Robinson (D-Balto 4th) and others in the House, was introduced by Sen. Goldstein (D-Calvert) and five other senators.

The bill specifies that the scholarships are intended to encourage the education of talented young people unable to afford to go to college. Talent gauged by competitive examinations, and financial need would be the primary factors in determining recipients of the $800 a year scholarships.

Sen. Bertorelli (D-Balto 1st) introduced a bill to give State Police the equivalent of a salary raise of about $450 a year—without cost to the state.

This would be effected by designating as a "subsistence allowance" $5 a day of money now paid State Police. This would then become exempt from federal income taxes, making possible the saving of about $450.

The idea was discovered by City Councilman Jacob Edelman of Baltimore, who has made a similar proposal to the council for city police.

A Senate committee today virtually killed a bill aimed at loosening the state's "blue law" restrictions on Sunday sales.

The Judicial Proceedings Committee unanimously voted an unfavorable report on a proposal to permit general retailing between 1 and 6 p. m. on Sundays.

Current law confines Sunday retailing to drugs, tobacco and some food and drink items.

Among school students visiting General Assembly sessions on their "Lincoln's Day" holiday was the senior class of Boonsboro High School in Washington County.

The group was given an explanation of legislative procedure by Senate President Goldstein (D-Calvert), Sen. Downey (R-Washington) and the six member Washington County delegation from the House of Delegates.

A bill aimed at stimulating industrial and business growth in Maryland has hit a snag in the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee.

The bill by Sen. Goldstein (D-Calvert) would set up an economic development corporation to make long term loans, otherwise unavailable, to existing businesses for capital improvements. The corporation would be made up of financial institutions which volunteered to commit themselves up to 2 per cent of their capital and surplus.

Goldstein said many small industries have been prevented from building in Maryland because a state limitation on the amount of bank loans has prevented them from borrowing money needed to build.

A discussion included agreement by the state banking commissioner that it may be helpful. But Stedman Prescott Jr. of the attorney general's office said he has "great doubt" the bill would be constitutional if passed at this short session of the Legislature, limited to budgetary and statewide matters.

Lincoln Had Piety, Faith, McKeldin Says

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 12 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin said today that Abraham Lincoln if he were alive today would be oppressed by evil in the world but would be certain of its final overthrow "in God's good time."

"Unlike many of us who have only piety, (Lincoln) had religion," McKeldin said. The governor called it the kind of religion that believed God is able to make good the promise, "the sun shall not smite thee by day, nor the moon by night," not even "an artificial moon created by men who have repudiated our god."

McKeldin made his remarks in a speech before the Anne Arundel County Ministerium.

The governor told the ministers that Lincoln was no theologian, but "he had so much more faith than most of us that he had no need of the intellectual props and stays that we must have to bolster our wavering belief."

Until 1893, the title of envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary was the highest title given any U. S. diplomatic representative.

Sun Life of Canada Pays $34 Million in Policyholder Dividends; U.S. Sales Up Company sells total $917 million new life insurance in '57; $7¼ billion life insurance now in force; $155 million paid to policyholders in 1957.

Higher policyholder dividend payments and a new sales record for the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada are among the highlights of the year announced by George W. Bourke, President, in his review of the Company's business for 1957. During 1957, Sun Life will pay out $34 million in dividends to policyholders, an increase of $2½ million over the amount paid out in 1956. New life insurance sold in 1957 amounted to $917 million, largest amount ever sold by any Canadian company in one year and an increase of $63 million over the old record set just a year ago. A substantial proportion of the new business originated in the United States, where Sun Life has 36% of its insurance in force. Included in the new business total was $243 million of group life insurance. Sun Life's insurance in force now exceeds $7,749,000,000, more than twice the amount in force ten years ago. Life insurance and annuity business combined is now the equivalent of $10,150,000,000 of life insurance.

BENEFIT PAYMENTS

The Report also reveals that $155 million in benefits was paid out to policyholders and beneficiaries in 1957. Of the total $49 million was paid to beneficiaries of deceased policyholders, representing a substantial contribution to family welfare. Living policyholders and annuitants received $106 million. Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries since the first Sun Life policy was issued in 1871 have now reached $3,295,000,000.

Mr. Bourke referred to the current level of death rates in the United States and Canada. Almost 60% of Sun Life death claims incurred during 1957 were due to disorders of the heart and circulatory systems. The proportion of claims due to cancer

19% of the total — represented the second major cause of death. There is an obvious need for extensive medical research and the Sun Life is continuing to make contributions for this important study, he said.

"I believe that the better informed people become as to the benefits of life insurance," Mr. Bourke said, "the more insurance they will buy and the more they will insist on programs carefully designed to cover their fundamental insurance needs. These needs are still so far from full satisfaction that we can look forward with every confidence to the continued growth and prosperity of our business."

A copy of Sun Life's complete 1957 Annual Report, including the President's review of the year, is being sent to each policyholder, or may be obtained from Paul E. Drury, C.L.U., Branch Manager or Jack Powell, Group Dept. Mgr.

Campaigning Tough In Abe's Time, Too

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—The day as part of the ceremonies designed to show that this Library of Congress has been honoring Lincoln, born 149 years ago today, a letter Abraham Lincoln wrote his wife in which he complained of the hard work in a campaign — and lightly passed over one of the greatest speeches he ever made.

The gift was announced yesterday, while Lincoln was on a calculation before I started, went off passably well, and gave me no trouble whatever.

It was presented by Lincoln's great-grandson, Lincoln Isham of Dorset, Vt. The date: March 4, 1860, exact one year before he was sworn into office.

Isham also gave the library: A confidential letter in which Lincoln defended a politician accused of being too fond of the bottle.

A small card asking Gens. Burnsides and Butler to see the unnamed bearer; and a Bible presented to "Abraham and lady" by Robert Turner, who probably owned a Baltimore feed store. Then, as now, presidential gifts showed up from Lincoln turned to the problems of campaigning.

It's the letter on campaigning "I have been unable to escape — which Lincoln scholars thought foreseen it I think I would not have been lost — that attracts this tale," he wrote. "If I had the most interest. It was written from Exeter, at New York, being within my

As for the other letter, Lincoln was backing Richard Yates who hoped to get re-elected to Congress from Illinois. On Sept. 8, 1854, Lincoln wrote Richard James Oglesby saying rumors were being spread that Yates drank secretly.

"Other things being equal," Lincoln wrote, "I would much prefer a temperate man, to an intemperate one. Still I do not make my vote depend absolutely upon the question of whether a candidate does or does not taste liquor."

"Thousands and thousands of us, in point of fact, have known Yates for more than twenty years; and I have never seen him drink liquor, nor act, or speak, as if he had been drinking nor smelled it on his breath, nor heard any man say he ever had."

It's not clear whether the voters were convinced Yates was a rum-pot. Anyway, he lost, but the story has a happy ending.

First Yates, and then Oglesby, were elected governor of Illinois. Both loyally supported the Lincoln administration.

Soviets Report Sputnik Radio Voice Oddities

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (AP)—The radio voice of Russia's Sputnik II sometimes went echoing around the earth.

And sometimes the radio signal took a long pathway to a home receiver rather than the shortest distance.

These peculiarities all involved the ionosphere, the electrified layers of air above the earth through which Sputnik II flew at different levels.

A brief description of this radio behavior is contained in Russia's official preliminary report on her Sputniks to the International Geophysical Year.

A copy of the 7,500-word report, delivered a week ago to IGY headquarters in Brussels, has just been received here. It adds few details beyond earlier Soviet communications and announcements.

Dr. M. N. Oclet, IGY secretary general, said last weekend. Radio frequencies in the Sputniks provided a new tool to explore the ionosphere. Until now the main method was to send radio waves up from the earth and see how they are reflected or absorbed.

The Sputniks broadcast down through the ionosphere, and the report mentions some of the distortions and effects.

The radio waves from Sputnik II sometimes were reflected back from the earth's surface, and then from the ionosphere. At other times they were refracted, or "bent," so they were carried to regions far beyond the limits of line-of-sight.

The report said some cases were detected of echoes traveling around the earth, and that there was other evidence there can be wave propagation channels in the atmosphere.

U. S. Okinawa Reverses Blamed On Poor Politics

NAHA, Okinawa, Feb. 12 (AP)—America's recent election defeats by leftist forces in Okinawa can be attributed at least partly to poor politics.

A close look at the last two campaigns shows the Red front known as "Minren" gave candidates willing to cooperate with the United States a lesson in how to get into office.

The examination shows Minren gained far less than a mandate from the Okinawa people to carry out its program of opposing U.S. military policies on this island base.

Minren elected Saichu Kaneshi mayor of Naha Jan. 12, defeating Socialist Taisuo Taira. On Feb. 2 seven of its nine candidates were winners in the race for 15 new Naha City Assembly seats. Three independents expected to vote with Minren also won. An anti-Minren coalition took only four posts and a Socialist one.

Yet of the 22,804 votes counted in the Feb. 2 balloting, Minren polled only 7,320. And its combined total with independent votes, added to the pro-Minren, was only slightly above 12,000—little more than half.

There was almost the same division three weeks earlier when Kaneshi edged Taira for mayor 34,968 to 33,986. Those who watched the Kaneshi-Taira campaign expressed little surprise that Minren topped a combined Socialist-Conservative Democratic effort.

Kamejiro Senaga, head of the anti-American, pro-Communist Okinawa People's party and ousted only Nov. 23 as Naha mayor, ran Kaneshi's campaign. Rated one of the most skillful politicians in the Orient, he organized teams early, blocked out districts and sent people knocking on doors with pre-election literature. Socialist Taira, 65, started late and gave the impression he was a tired man. He made the fatal error of not campaigning vigorously in newly annexed Mawashi district—a presumed Conservative area that became the prime target of Senaga and Kaneshi. Kaneshi carried Mawashi by more than 3,000 votes. Ironically, Taira worked hard in Shuri district, thought to be a Kaneshi stronghold, and won there.

The shocked political forces on Okinawa who oppose Kaneshi and Senaga have given some indication they will mend their fences in time to prevent a new debacle.

Will Signed In Blood With Turkey Quill

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 12 (AP)—A will signed in blood and recorded in Probate Court today provides $170,000 for a home for the aged in Pinellas County.

Leaving the money was Cal L. Grovett, 71, who died Feb. 6. He owned a motel and other properties at nearby Largo.

William H. Wolfe, designated as the estate's attorney, explained that Grovett used a turkey quill to sign and "when he came to me saying he wanted to make out a will signed in blood I told him he would have to go to a doctor because a will must be signed in several places and I didn't know how much blood it would take."

"In my 32 years of law practice I had never seen a will signed in blood."

Grovett signed the will before a Largo osteopath.

Little is known about Grovett's past. Wolfe believes he was a native of France, but his home town in that country is unknown. Before coming to Largo 20 years ago, he lived at Lafayette, Ga.

Clubwoman's Ideal Costume Contest Must Be Judged By Mar. 1

Mrs. G. Bates Chaires, First District fine arts chairman, announces that local judging in the "Ideal Costume for the Clubwoman's Wardrobe" contest must be completed by March 1. The district judging must be completed by March 15.

Members of the Woman's Civic Club and the Junior Woman's Civic Club are busy cutting and stitching their own interpretations of the "Ideal Costume for the Clubwoman's Wardrobe." These outfits will be judged in the nationwide fashion-sewing contest sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Washington, with the cooperation of Vogue Pattern Service and the Woman's Club Service Bureau, New York City.

Contestants in the local judging will model their costumes at a special club meeting tentatively set for the latter part of February. Each outfit is to be judged on the basis of versatility, and appropriateness for club occasions, becomingness to wear, overall fashion effect and workmanship.

Mrs. Arch Hutcheson is contest chairman for the Woman's Civic Club. Judges will be announced later.

The winner of the local contest will be eligible to compete in the judging to be held later at the district level of the federation. Mrs. Chaires says a central place will be selected by March 15. The district includes Allegany, Garrett, Washington, Frederick, Carroll and Harford counties. The winner's prize in the local contest will include a copy of the Vogue Dressmaking Book and a Vogue pattern of her choice.

State contests will follow the district judgments with $50 cash awards going to the winners. The contest judging will be at the convention in Baltimore in April. National prizes, for which the state winners will compete, include $250 cash for first; $150 cash, second; and $100 cash for third. First and second prize winners also will receive a trip to the 1958 GFWC convention in Detroit as a part of their award.

Clubs represented by the various winners will receive special awards.

Mrs. Chaires has received applications from both Cumberland clubs, Oakland and Frederick county.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

Charm Has A Long Memory

I needn't remind you for a minute that a good memory is a deuced asset to charm. Unreasonable as it may be, we're all offended by those who forget our faces or our names or appointments with us or what we earnestly told them. And we're more than pleased with those who DO remember us and things about us although acquaintance is slight.

The capacity for remembering is far greater than you think—cultivate your own memory and see Success is concerned with memory's three laws, set down here to help you. Practice their dictates to add a fine new luster to your charm rating.

1. IMPRESSION. Concentrate on the person, object or information you want to remember so that the impression in your mind will go deep, deep enough to hold. Try to double impression by creating it through two senses, as in reading aloud, so that you not only SEE but HEAR what you read, and by taking time to form a picture in your mind to reinforce what you hear.

2. REPETITION. Repeat and repeat, but keep in mind that a frequent reminder is better than one long session of repetition. If you try to memorize a list of names or dates by constant, unceasing repetition, you may succeed. But the list will be retained more easily and accurately if it is repeated several times, then put aside and gone back to later for more repetition.

3. ASSOCIATION. Try to associate everything to be remembered with a fact or an image already in your mind. Take time to do this immediately, or as soon as possible. To remember a name, observe the person closely and make every attempt to associate the name with his appearance. To remember a fact, try to connect it to once with another fact that you'll be able to recall clearly.

turers' equipment and inventory. Also overridden today was the governor's veto of a bill to put state employees on a 40-hour week instead of a 44-hour week. Like the manufacturers' bill, this now goes to the House.

Pigeon-Hole Bills

The Senate Finance Committee, meeting before and after the day's session, decided this afternoon to pigeon-hole a number of bills until it has cleared its decks of budget proposals.

At a tense session, Chairman Turnbull (D-Balto County) obtained committee approval of a rule to defer action on any measure which would decrease revenues or increase expenditures for the next fiscal year or "might reasonably be expected" to have the same effect in "succeeding fiscal years."

Sen. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel) strenuously opposed the rule when he was told it would mean postponement of action on a bill to set up a study of the veterans bonus problem. Spokesmen for veterans groups had appeared before the committee to ask that the bill be started toward passage.

Tractor Course Will Be Deferred

The Allegany County 4-H tractor maintenance course, on which the first session was held Monday night at the Court House, will have to be deferred until about the middle of March, according to Assistant County Agent James B. Arnold.

Mr. Arnold said that 15 boys attended the opening session Monday night.

The delay is necessary because bad weather last week forced postponement of an area tractor maintenance course for leaders to be taught by Guy Gienger, agricultural engineer at the University of Maryland. The new date for this class is Thursday, March 13, at Northern Garrett High School for leaders in Allegany and Garrett counties. The 4-H course cannot start until after the leaders get their training.

Resident Completing Drycleaning Course

Herbert G. Stevey, 804 Maryland Avenue, will graduate tomorrow from the 22d Silk Finishing Course at the National Institute of Drycleaning, Silver Spring.

An employe of the Crystal Laundry Company here, Mr. Stevey learned in classroom sessions about new fibers and fabrics which require variations in finishing techniques.

Stegmaier Will Talk To Local Ministers

Harry Stegmaier, local attorney and historian, will address the Cumberland Ministerial Association at the noon luncheon Monday at Central YMCA. The members of the association will meet in their regular business session at 11 a. m. and adjourn for the luncheon at 12:15 p. m.

Dr. E. E. Miller, pastor of First Evangelical United Brethren Church, will conduct opening devotions at the business meeting. Mr. Stegmaier will address the ministers on the subject, "Washington and Cumberland."

Keeping Up With Hollywood
by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 12 (INS)—color, and so effortless in his humor. He, too, sang a duet with Miyoshi, or Nancy, as he calls her.

The entertainment this year was especially good, with Dorothy Shay, the Park Avenue hillbilly, and Allan Jones both in rare form. Dr. James Stewart, Beverly Hills clerk, was chosen the man of the year.

Brigitte is certain that she'll get Frank Sinatra for "Paris By Night," and Frankie has talked to her on the telephone. Since he's made pictures for Columbia, it is certainly in the realm of possibility.

Another associate of Bardot's is Madame Couze Christine, who planes into town Saturday to talk to Fernando Lamas about "La Femme et le Pantin." This picture will be made in French and Spanish. Fernando says this is a firm offer and that he expects to leave for Europe in April.

Ernest Borgnine, who hasn't been making much money for himself because of financial adjustments on his old contract with Hecht-Hill-Lancaster, intends to remedy that situation as soon as possible.

Right from under the noses of some major studio producers he has bought John Michael Hayes early days of Montana. Hayes, a top writer, scripted "Peyton Place."

Ernie also has bought for his newly-formed "B & W" independent company, Stephen Longstreet's "The Promoter." With these two properties Borgnine expects to replenish his bank account.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower will hear the songs from "Gigi" from the lips of no less a favorite than Maurice Chevalier at the Press Club dinner in Washington, D. C., March 29.

Maurice has obtained permission from composers Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe to do this. Of course, everyone is interested as the "Gigi" music is the first score they've done since "My Fair Lady."

Chevalier will be here for Academy Award night before leaving Washington and from there to New York for his nightclub engagement at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Miyoshi, the little Japanese girl whose doll-like beauty charmed everyone who saw her in "Sayonara," a sensation at the Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce Valentine dinner-dance. She sings in a sweet little voice popular American songs both in English and Japanese.

She told me that she is rehearsing with four Japanese boys for a nightclub act. Red Buttons, whose wife she played in "Sayonara," is just about the best master of ceremonies in many a day. He is funny without being off.

Unemployment Drops In Md.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 12 (AP)—The number of Maryland's unemployed, after hitting a high early in January, dropped as the month wore on. Last week a record number of checks and money were issued to the jobless.

That's the indication derived from the figures of the State Department of Employment Security.

Executive Director Robert B. Kimble said the rise broke a lull which had seen the jobless figures drop slowly after hitting a top early in January.

Last week the department issued 47,015 unemployment compensation checks, an increase of more than 2,000 checks for the previous week. In dollar figures, the state issued a record $1,422,626, an increase of $75,000 from the previous week.

The previous high was $1,369,548, issued the week ending Jan. 25.

Initial claims for benefits, which generally reflect the trend in unemployment, rose last week to 5,698 from the 5,624 over the previous week.

Maryland's jobless workers received nearly 6 million dollars in unemployment checks during January. The amount represented an increase of 60 per cent over the December figure.

Kimble attributed the increased unemployment to lack of work or sales orders, especially in the fields of metals, apparel, and transportation equipment. Also to blame, he said, was the severe cold weather which had crippled construction projects and the seafood industry.

Slide Destroys School

TAIPEI, Feb. 12 (AP)—A landslide razed a two-story school Sunday in the mountainside community of a Buddhist temple near Miaoli, in northwest Formosa. All families in the area to tell the 60 pupils and their teachers had just gone out for lunch. None was injured.

A Better Way To Go Hunting?

A Kansas City veterinarian and his wife have left for Africa to hunt wild animals for zoos, with an air gun and tranquilizing drugs. "It is presumed that part unconsciousness and temporary paralysis will result from 10 seconds to two minutes after the drug is injected," says a news item.

Well, why not? A tranquilized leopard is far superior to a naturally rebellious one if his capture is the task in hand. That goes double, at least, for a lion, and maybe quadruple for a big bull elephant.

The vet's one remaining doubt, perhaps, is whether a tranquilizer shot will calm a charging critter before it reaches the human target. It is difficult to picture a rhino in full career suddenly slowing to a walk sniffing at daisies.

Dr. Deets Pickett, the veterinarian, would likely give some credit to the Amazonian Indians for their use of curare, or other poisonous natural drug, in killing game or human enemies. Wouldn't just a little bit of such stuff do as a tranquilizer without permanent injury to the target?

In the Philippines fish are caught by driving them at high tide into embanked areas like rice paddies. Then the little brown men go whacking and splashing the water with bundles of peeled roots they get out of the jungle. Soon the surface is dotted with fish floating and twitching feebly, to be gathered up in baskets. The fishermen must be quick to scoop up the intoxicated fish, or in a few minutes they will recover and disappear.

There are times when a hunter here in America might wish for a bit of tranquilizer coating for his slugs. Couldn't many a crippled bird or beast be recovered that way — which otherwise escapes to die in agony?

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Aggravating Relations

Nikita Khrushchev, in his address before the Supreme Soviet in December 1957, said:

"The victory of a social order will be solved not by rockets, nor by atomic or hydrogen bombs, but by the social order which insures more material and spiritual good for humanity. We consider that the socialist order is the highest form of organization of the society. Let any system of social order show its advantages not only in military, but in peaceful fields in the development of the productive forces of society, science, technology, culture—in the creation of better living conditions."

His assumption apparently is that Soviet Russia has some kind of an advantage over the Western world in human progress. This is yet to be established by factual data. Despite remarkable progress in some fields, the United States is far ahead of Soviet Russia in productive output; West Germany has made as great progress as Soviet Russia in spite of almost insurmountable handicaps. Surely no comparison is possible of normal living conditions, even for the agricultural population, between the United States and Soviet Russia.

When, however, Khrushchev states the following, he not only does not tell the truth, but he knows that he does not tell the truth. He deliberately and cold-bloodedly lies. This is what Khrushchev said in that speech:

"The Soviet Union and other socialist countries do not threaten anyone with war. They have no intention of forcing their own ideology or methods on anyone. The only thing they propose is peace and friendship between peoples. We want to strive for mutual understanding, we want to establish trust between states, put an end to the fanning of war passions and introduce peace, to give the people the opportunity to work in peace. This is obvious. However, we are told that this is propaganda! Yes, it is propaganda but not for war but for peace, because in the Soviet Union, as distinct from the United States, for instance, propaganda for war is considered a grave crime and is punished by law."

For 40 years, since 1917, Soviet Russia has conducted a world-wide propaganda to bring other nations within the Soviet Universal State. To accomplish this end, Soviet Russia has conquered some 17 countries; it has made war on Finland and China; it has broken treaties and agreements; it has subsidized civil wars and rebellions; it has frightened politicians by the activities of Kremlin-controlled political parties within their national boundaries; it has infiltrated into so-called friendly governments, even allies in time of war, by the employment of native sons and daughters against their fatherlands.

The history of the Communist Party from 1903 to 1958 is one of continuous conspiracy and outrageous betrayal of friend and ally. One need only read this passage in Chiang Kai-shek's book, "Soviet Russia in China," to realize what a horribly treacherous nation this is. Chiang says:

"... The so-called 'cooperation for joint resistance against Japan' was nothing but a slogan for this strategic defense. On the other hand, the 'people's front' they then organized was a kind of isolationist device used to support their neutralism tactics through the 'Anti-Japanese National Salvation Association' in an attack on the Government. While asking for co-operation to resist Japan, the Chinese Communists insulted and abused the Government by branding it as 'Fascist' and 'not anti-Japanese.' This campaign caused our country and our Government a considerable loss in prestige but opened up for the Communists vast possibilities for political expansion. So, in this particular instance, the Chinese Communists' 'peaceful coexistence' was a strategic defense and a tactical offense ..."

"I have watched this party closely for more than 40 years, as closely as one can without becoming a member of it, and must denounce it as a plague upon the human race. Chiang was once friendly with the Communists. It took him years to learn this:

"... they sought to shatter our strength by using 'peaceful coexistence' as a strategic weapon to tie the hands of the Government troops and at the same time to facilitate their own attacks. In point of tactics, however, they remained on the defensive and shaped their demands accordingly. They only talked of 'peace.' They said they wanted 'democracy.' They claimed that all they asked was that political parties should leave the armed forces and schools. ... Therefore, the Communists' peace talks during this particular phase were a strategic offense and tactical defense."

'Mad Dog! Call Out The Militia!'

The Contradictory Tones Of Mr. Khrushchev

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Bulganan may write the letters to Eisenhower and Macmillan, but Khrushchev reflects the true attitude of the Kremlin toward a "summit" conference. There's a distinct difference between the polite language of diplomacy used by Bulganin and the hard-hitting, "give 'em hell" style of the dictator of the vast Soviet empire when he talks about America to the Soviet People.

Most significant is the speech made by Khrushchev in his role as the leader of the Communist Party to a conference of "leading workers of agriculture" at Minsk on January 22nd last. The full text has just become available here. The speech was delivered before America launched her globe-circling satellite but took into account that the United States also might soon have a "sputnik" in the air.

The address, approximately 14,000 words, is plainly an attempt to make a comprehensive rebuttal to the viewpoints of Western countries. It reveals clearly that Western criticism gets under the skin of the Soviet spokesmen. They show irritation, seem to wince under the verbal blows, and they come up with fantastic distortions in an effort to hold up their end of the debate.

What happened in Hungary is still a sore point—and, of course, the West is blamed for exploiting it and even instigating it. "Literally in three days," relates Khrushchev, "the counter-revolutionary bands in Hungary were routed and order was restored. . . of course there still are serious economic difficulties which are due to the activities of counter-revolution."

In Poland, the Communist Chief admits that "there still exist not a few difficulties" but says "measures are being implemented to strengthen the people's democratic regime."

Much space is devoted in the speech to the scientific achievement represented by the launching of two "sputniks," and the West is criticized for daring to imply that the Soviet leaders were trying "to frighten the governments of the Western powers."

Nothing could be further removed from the Soviet mind, argues Khrushchev, but a little later on in the same speech he repeats one of his "we-will-bury-you" threats. After pointing out that the West still has no rockets for its bases in Europe and will not have them for two or three years more, he remarks:

"We have these rockets today and they can be aimed at any area of the globe for dealing a crushing blow at the aggressors, if they should attempt to unleash a new war."

When the Communist leader defines an "aggressor," he appears to mean any country that doesn't bow in submission to Soviet demands. But immediately after a few paragraphs of defiance and scorn, the Kremlin chief changes his tune and says: "Let us improve our relations, let us trade, let us develop the scientific, cultural and sports ties. Let us meet and discuss in a businesslike manner the urgent international problems."

The speech then sets forth the Soviet idea of "peaceful co-existence" — which would require withdrawal of all American forces from Europe and of all military aid, abandonment of all bases, a prohibition against testing and use of nuclear weapons—but there is not a word as to how the West is to be assured that the Soviet Union will keep agreements in the future when she has repeatedly violated them in the past.

The Communist Party boss has a lot to say in scorn of Westerners because they declare they believe in God. Khrushchev doesn't

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Harry Truman seems to think a violent disagreement is the highest form of patriotism.

Back in 1947 we said Harry was the smartest boy in school but didn't want to graduate.

He never has taken his finger off the pulse of the pumphandle. He's the slickest politician who ever built a marble Post Office for frunked laundry.

To the victor belong the spoils, it's the loser's right to spoil it.

That crack about running like on tracks was as uncalled for as a dusty package on the top shelf. But anything that butters the popcorn is good politics.

Harry is correct about the Old Guard still skipping rope with apron strings. That's as sure as MacDuff fetching the celery tops to Macbeth.

This is the month of the big political victory dinner with the guest of honor a statue in the park.

Has Harry ever asked himself why they stop with Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln?

Lyndon Johnson Urges Ike To Take Constructive Approach For Peace

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Sen. Lyndon Johnson, one of the few who can get Ike on the telephone when they wish, has been urging the President to take a more constructive lead for peace.

The Senator from Texas, who has watched the terrifying arms race from the inside and fully appreciates the civilization-wrecking impact of modern war, believes the United States should get out of the rut of Dulles diplomacy and make some new, more positive moves.

The administration's constant refrain of "let's have a preparatory conference" may be sound diplomacy, but Johnson recognizes the truth of what most of our diplomats advise — that this doesn't sit well with the rest of the world. They want action, not long drawn-out preparation.

Johnson, therefore, has urged Eisenhower to take the initiative with a spectacular speech before the United Nations, asking for agreement on the peaceful control of outer space. Simultaneously, the State Department has come up with a similar idea, wants Ike to go to New York to make a dramatic appeal that the arms race be stopped, and that the place to stop it is before we begin competing for outer space.

The President, tired and recently ill with a cold, has not enthused over the idea.

The Wrong Secretary

LT. Gen. James Gavin, about to retire because of his opposition to Pentagon lags in sci-ific research, was chatting with the press after unburdening his views to the Senate's Preparedness Investigating Committee. "Were you unhappy at the Pentagon, General?" asked a reporter. "Oh, no," replied Gavin. "I was happy with my secretary."

"Blond or brunette?" inquired a newsman. "I meant the Secretary of the Army, Mr. Brucker," explained General Gavin.

Missile-Any —

The Army's satellite, a great achievement for the United States, was a tragic defeat for the Republican National Committee. They had gone to great expense to prepare television films featuring Republican Congressmen boasting over the achievements of the Navy satellite Vanguard. Now the Army has launched its satellite Explorer while the Navy has been out of luck. Republicans fear their films are dead as a dodo. . . . The Air Force hopes to counteract the Army's big publicity break over launching the first American satellite by sending the first American rocket to the moon. Air Force scientists predict they can reach the moon as early as this spring — if they can get the green light to go ahead.

Secretary of Defense McElroy was so disgusted over the second Vanguard failure that for a time he suggested to Ike that the whole Vanguard program be scrapped. . . . McElroy has ordered research into the feasibility of a fantastic invisible ray that would destroy enemy targets at great distances with the speed of light. It sounds like something out of Buck Rogers, but McElroy is taking it seriously. In this day of modern weapons he can't afford not to. . . . The Navy has asked permission to convert our scientific bases in the Antarctic into permanent military bases. It claims this is necessary in order to guard the sea route around Cape Horn in case the Panama Canal should ever be closed by an A-bomb. The State Department is against the idea because we would be trespassing on British, French, Australian and Norwegian claims.

Reuther Vs. Senators

Walter Reuther, the United Auto Workers boss, put one over on his chief Senatorial critic, GOP Senator Goldwater of Arizona, the other day. Goldwater, a big department store operator in Phoenix, has been trying to prod any and every Senate committee into investigating Reuther.

The other day, Reuther was testifying before the Kefauver Anti-monopoly Committee when Senator Wiley of Wisconsin asked him about his new plan to pay dividends to labor when profits were high.

"Are you going to start something new in America in relation to management?" Wiley asked. "It means that eventually you would be on the board of directors, would you not?"

"Not at all, Senator Wiley," replied Reuther. "We have not asked for representation on the board of directors. There are some 20,000 companies in America that have profit-sharing plans, including Senator Goldwater's store, and Mr. Folsom, who is on the President's Cabinet."

Reuther paused as the crowd turned toward Goldwater and tilted.

"Mr. Folsom," he continued, "comes from Eastman Kodak. They have pioneered in this field. Mr. McElroy in the Defense Department comes from Procter and Gamble, and they have pioneered. This is not a new idea. This is not a new model."

Trial Of Seven

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (INS) — This is the first of two pieces on the trial of seven boys who are facing the electric chair at Sing Sing, as the iron-clad cliché puts it. There have been very few mass trials of this nature here or anywhere else in the country. This one is made unique in a grisly way not only by the possibility of mass execution but by the fact that the oldest boy is 18 and the youngest of the defendants is a 15-year-old epileptic.

The seven sit shoulder to shoulder in Judge Irwin Delmore Davidson's court each day, never whispering, mildly interested-looking, not unlike well-mannered but bored children listening to a dull teacher. Facing the judge, they sit this way, left to right: a Negro, the eldest, then a boy from the Dominican Republic, then the epileptic 15-year-old John McCarty, then a Negro boy, the second white boy (a neatly groomed 16-year-old named Richard Hills) and two young Puerto Ricans. The new New York is on trial. That is the sociological aspect.

They were all members of the Egyptian Kings mob. The Egyptian Kings were, and are, children of generally poor, always crowded and in some cases broken, families living in a section of Harlem and Puerto Ricoville that has no public swimming pool. For the past year or two, during the summers, they had been going to a pool on Washington Heights, dug on the very ground where George Washington's ragged ranks won their first real victory over the British in a stirring but surely less complicated age.

The people who live in the neighborhood where the pool was built did not want the Egyptian Kings to swim there. They told their own children not to go there any more, and the place became known in the neighborhood as the "Ink Well."

Last summer was oppressively hot in New York, and so it became the practice of the boys of the neighborhood to wait until guards had left for the night and then slip through a widened hole in the iron fence that surrounds the place, and swim. To boot, a group named the Jesters, a teenage mob from the district, sometimes challenged the Egyptian Kings mob, and there were perimeter fights galore. The Jesters were tougher.

Last July the Egyptian Kings, searching for a strong ally, made what they thought was a firm alliance with the Bronx Dragons. The Egyptian Kings could supply such weapon: as kitchen knives, machetes, stilettos, studded garrison belts and steel dog chains. They understood that the Bronx Dragons, much better off, would produce guns and getaway cars. On July 29 about 50 members of the Egyptian Kings trooped to a proposed rendezvous with the Bronx Dragons for the purpose of formulating final plans and descending not only on the Jesters but possibly such Jesters allies as the Fanwoods and the Rams. To the dismay of the leaders of the Egyptian Kings, the Dragons didn't show up. The next night, the Egyptians appeared at the appointed spot 75 strong. They waited for a long time, armed with their primitive methods of blood-letting. Still no Dragons. Then most of them fled, fearing a patrol car. Their ranks dwindled to 18, who finally left and trudged to the area of the swimming pool.

One of the defendants is charged with deploying his troops in bushes near the place where the iron fence had been pounded apart far enough to admit a nocturnal swimmer. He and two others then went out on patrol. While they were gone, two boys polio case, and Roger McShane, named Michael Farmer, once a slipped through the fence in the hope of a swim.

The bulk of the mob pounced. McShane ran. Farmer either could not or would not. He was promptly beaten and stabbed to death. The ultimate plunge apparently was delivered by a 14-year-old who said later that he wanted to feel what it was like to punch a knife through human bone. The child is now confined in a reformatory, where on indeterminate terms are being held 11 of the 18 who participated in the murder and/or the almost fatal stabbing of young McShane, who was intercepted as he tried to run for safety and help.

All these 11 are under age 15. Six have turned state's evidence. The first of these to testify, 14-year-old Ralph Lago, is on the stand tomorrow. The terribly frightened boy came to the stand too late Tuesday to be heard, after days of cool, polite answers to the questions of some of the 27 lawyers the court has appointed to keep these youngsters from a chain store electrocution that would never be forgotten.

(Tomorrow: The Judge . . . The Lawyers . . . The Case.)

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A gent who spent most of his business hours trying to pick winning nags at racetracks all over the country called his doctor in some alarm. "It's my wife," he quavered. "She seems to think she's a racehorse. She's snorting and whinnying and chewing up all the grass on our front lawn."

"Probably her reaction to your endless talk about horses," guessed the doctor. "Bring her over this afternoon and I'll examine her." "Okay," agreed the gent. "I'll gallop over right after lunch."

A couple of French tourists, winding up an extensive tour of the United States, passed an old folks' home. The inmates were

Emotional Aspects Of Tuberculosis Patients

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Our defense against disease is as strong as the weakest link. A Minneapolis survey reports that tuberculosis was 55 times greater among occupants of skid-row than among city residents. These are the men who take temporary jobs around town. Many are food handlers, cooks' helpers, and dishwashers.

They mingle with the public in depots, subways, and stores. In this respect, they are in a better position to transmit infection to the general population than men with more substantial jobs. They could be our weakest link in the chain of defense against tuberculosis by constituting a primary source of re-infection.

It has been estimated that one-third of all tuberculosis patients confined to a sanatorium leave against medical advice. One-half of this group are said to be infectious and not only jeopardize their own health but spread disease to others.

These persons leave the institution for various reasons, but in most instances the cause is emotional. Psychic problems begin the moment the diagnosis of tuberculosis is made. This malady carries a stigma that is difficult to overcome. It threatens the very existence of the individual and demands a complete readjustment in living.

Inmates of a sanatorium must learn to control their hostility and accept all the rules and regulations without question. The manner in which the sufferer takes his adversity depends in part upon his upbringing and mental fiber.

The doctor-nurse-patient relationship will be strained at some time during the stay and the longer the individual is in the sanatorium the more likely he is to go AWOL. Recalcitrant patients are the toughest to handle. Many belong to the skid row group and are alcoholics, lone-some oldsters, wanderers, or psychotics. They are too resistant, obstinate, and defiant to cooperate which sets up a barrier that hinders treatment. All this has a disturbing influence upon the morale of the other patients.

Many of these stubborn persons have basic emotional problems that make them behave in this way. They are firm believers in "I" rather than "we." This background, plus an illness like tuberculosis, adds to their insecurity. Much understanding and sympathy are demanded though they have no inclination to reciprocate.

SLEEPING INFECTION

W. T. writes: Is there a difference between a dormant and an arrested case of tuberculosis? REPLY

Not for practical purposes.

When a tuberculosis lesion heals, the bacilli go into a dormant or an inactive state. That is why physicians seldom use the word cure.

TOO LATE

J. M. J. writes: What is an inoperable cancer?

REPLY

A malignancy that has spread elsewhere in the body or involves an organ so vital it cannot be removed (liver or heart).

COLD GETS HIM

F. K. M. writes: Why do I become breathless when walking out of doors in cold weather? I'm never bothered in summer. REPLY

This may be normal even though the cold may interfere with breathing by constricting the bronchial tubes and blood vessels. Examination of the heart and lungs is in order unless you notice the symptoms only during zero weather.

CANCER AND WEIGHT

V. W. writes: Can a person have cancer and not lose weight? REPLY

Yes, except in the terminal stages. Weight loss occurs more rapidly when gastrointestinal cancer interferes with appetite and digestion. In time, the toxic effects of a malignant growth decrease poundage, even with appetite and good digestion.

TOMORROW: Our readers have their say.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Raygold Plant Is Employing Initial Staff

Moorefield Firm Making Headway

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — The Raygold Manufacturing Corporation is accepting applications for jobs at the plant this week, according to an announcement of Frank Dodson, plant manager. The company expects to be in production within six weeks.

Elliot Lief and Joseph Schmitt, Long Island, were at the plant during the past ten days supervising the installation of more machinery. Since the Raygold Corporation leased the plant from the Moorefield Development Co. they have leveled the floors, installed more than 200 window panes, have the cyclones and blower systems in operation and the dry kiln has been reassembled and is ready for operation. All plumbing has been repaired and is in operation. Three trailer loads of special machinery and several other shipments of machinery and supplies have been received at the plant.

Seven men have been assembling and placing the special machines to be used in the plant operations. Officials expect to start operations with 35 to 40 employees and look forward to a payroll of over 100 within a year's time. Men and women will be employed at the plant.

Dodson said that written applications would be filed and workers called up as quickly as practical. Application blanks are available at the plant office.

He says that he favors and would aid in establishing a street resurfacing plan using the present "tar and chip" equipment. He also favors the establishment of other recreation areas for children of the community.

HAGERSTOWN, Feb. 12 — A last-second field goal by Dick Spencer gave the North Hagerstown Hubs a thrilling 46-45 triumph over South Hagerstown's Rebels here tonight to vault the victors into a tie in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League race with Frederick's Cadets.

The win gave Coach Mel Henry's quietest a sweep of the city series with South, the Hubs having won 45-39 earlier in the season.

Besides tying Frederick for the CVAL lead with a 5-3 mark the victory also gave the Henrymen the Washington County Class A diadem and the Hagerstown public schools title.

The loss for Coach Nick Scallion's Rebels was the sixth straight in the league. The Rebels have yet to win a league game.

The game saw-sawed back and forth throughout with neither team able to gain an important advantage. South trailed 12-10 in the first quarter but gained a 22-18 edge at intermission. The score was deadlocked, 32-32 at the close of the third stanza.

The score also was tied at 36-36, 40-42 and 44-44 in the final period before Spencer's basket wrapped it up for the Hubs.

With six seconds remaining and the score deadlocked at 44-44, Dennis Dwyer of the Rebels was fouled. He converted the first shot to give the South Hagerstown a brief 45-44 lead but missed his second try from the 15-foot line.

Ronnie Hawkins of the Hubs grabbed the rebound, passed quickly down court to Dick Spencer who laid the ball in for the winning goal as the final whistle sounded. The lineup:

The fast-breaking West Virginians led all the way in recording their 19th victory in 20 games, and their second of the year over the outmanned Keydets. WVU rapped the Virginians, 109-50, last December at Morgantown in the earlier meeting.

WVU, using a full court press at the start, ballooned to a 7-0 lead before Chuck Cotton goalied to break the VMI scoring drought. The Keydets trimmed the margin to 18-15 midway in the first half but that was the only time they managed to get within striking distance.

The Mountaineers sped to a 41-25 bulge at intermission and then led by Bob Smith, went on a second half rampage. The 6-4 Charleston, W. Va. junior went on a one-man scoring spree, bucking 11 points in a two-minute spurt while the Keydets made just two foul shots.

WVU moved to a 91-46 edge — its biggest lead of the night and sub Don Eddy put the Mountaineers over the 100-point mark with one-hander from the foul circle. Eddy made the last six WVU points.

Four WVU players finished in the double figures with Jerry West's 22 points leading the list. Bob Smith had 16, Joedy Gardner 15 and Lloyd Sharrar 11.

Cotton pitched in 20 points to top the scoring for VMI which now owns a 1-7 conference mark and a 4-11 over-all record.

Returns Pact

BALTIMORE, Feb. 12 — Art Ceccarelli, 27-year-old left-handed pitcher, has returned his signed 1958 contract to the Baltimore Orioles.

SPRING ISN'T FAR AWAY — Spring can't be very far away whenever the nation's top athletes in the national pastime of baseball start to unlimber from the inactivity of that long, old hard winter. Spring training officially begins for the 16 major league clubs on March 1, but many of the teams are holding early workouts for rookies and some veterans. Here Coach Al Vincent watches four players kick the kinks out of their legs as the first group of the Baltimore Orioles open the long grind at their Scottsdale, Ariz., base.

Voris Named Grid Mentor At Virginia

Former Army Coach Gets 3-Year Pact

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Feb. 12 — The University of Virginia switched from the Navy to the Army today in naming its ninth head football coach.

He is Dick Voris, 36, an assistant to Earl Blak at West Point since 1955.

Voris got a three year contract and a salary reported to be in excess of $10,000 a year. He succeeds Ben Martin, who resigned last month to become head coach at the Air Force Academy.

Martin came to Virginia from Annapolis, where he was an assistant under Eddie Erdelatz at Navy. Virginia found its new coach after a 13-day hunt. He was the unanimous selection of the university's Athletic Council. He also was approved today by the Board of Visitors.

Voris was a line coach for the professional Los Angeles Rams and head coach at Hartnell Junior College in California, where his teams zipped to a 21-0 record in three years. He inherits a Virginia team that recorded a 3-6-1 record last year, playing in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The new coach is expected to have a staff of three varsity assistants and a freshman coach. Athletic Director Gux K. Tehell said three of the assistants will come from other schools, one from Army.

Giardello Scores Over Suzina

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 12 — Joey Giardello, fourth-ranking middleweight, kept alive his hopes of a summer title fight tonight winning a unanimous 10-round decision over Franz Suzina, a rough customer from Bremen, Germany. Giardello weighed 160½ and Suzina 160 for the arena brawl.

The 27-year-old Giardello, who hopes to meet the winner of the March 25 Carmen Basilio-Ray Robinson title fight, was pressed all the way to whip the German, who now lives in Long Island, N. Y. Giardello used a long overhand right and solid combination punches to pile up points under the maximum 5-point per round Pennsylvania system.

Giardello, extending his winning streak to 15 fights, was judged a 48-44 winner by Referee Zach Clayton. Judge Max Darroff scored the fight 49-41 and Judge George Sador awarded the curly-headed Italian the decision 47-45. The Associated Press carded a much closer contest than the official verdict with a 45-44 edge for Giardello.

Hungary's Top Runner Leaves For U.S. Visit

Rozsavolgyi Plans To Compete In Meets

BUDAPEST, Feb. 12 — Istvan Rozsavolgyi, Hungary's great middle distance runner, leaves by plane tonight to compete in American indoor track meets.

Although the slim, blond flyer holds several world records and is a member of elite four-minute mile club, he is not all blase about his first trip to the United States.

When he heard that his visa finally had been granted, he overbid his hand in a card game and lost his cash.

"Who cares about money if you can make a visit to America," he asked excitedly.

Rozsavolgyi, who will be 29 next month, was disappointed greatly when it seemed at first he would be unable to make the journey. Hungarian Communist papers reported that he had been refused a visa.

Then someone seemed to have put on the pressure in Washington. American officials explained that it was all just a delay due to the security checks required on visitors from Communist countries. The visa arrived from Washington only last Saturday, after he had missed two indoor meets in the U.S.

Now that everything is set, Rozsavolgyi is looking forward eagerly to meeting Ron Delany, Ireland's Olympic 1,500-meter champion, and five other milers in the New York A.C. meet at New York's Madison Square Garden this Saturday.

The Moorefield-Ridgeley game originally set for Friday night has been changed to Saturday night at 8 o'clock on the Ridgeley High School court.

25 Per Cent Of Major League Stars Unsigned

Sievers, Kuenn, Aaron Not In Fold

By BEN OLAN
The Associated Press

Twenty-five per cent of the players on major league baseball rosters, including National League home run king Hank Aaron, World Series hero Lew Burdette and New York Yankee star Mickey Mantle, have yet to sign contracts for the 1958 season.

This was shown today in an Associated Press survey. The actual total of unsigned players is 158. The Boston Red Sox lead the pack with 19 followed by Milwaukee's champion Braves with 18.

Among the other standout players not in the fold are Roy Sievers of Washington, Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox, Harvey Kuenn of Detroit, Minnie Minoso of Cleveland, Whitey Ford and Bill Skowron of the Yanks, Ed Bailey and Brooks Lawrence of Cincinnati, Johnny Antonelli of the San Francisco Giants and Ed Mathews of the Braves.

Except for the St. Louis Cardinals, players, each club will have to do a lot of contract negotiating between now and the March 1 official start of spring training. Some will probably have to go beyond that date.

The Tigers still have not satisfied 15 players and the Yankees 14. Philadelphia, Baltimore, Kansas City and Washington are next with 12 each. Then come the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10, Chicago White Sox, 9, Cincinnati, 8; Cleveland, 6; San Francisco, 5; Los Angeles, 4 and the Chicago Cubs, 3.

Sievers, Aaron and Antonelli are among those who have publicly announced dissatisfaction with the contracts offered them.

Sievers, the American League home run leader, has asked that his salary be doubled. He received $19,000 last season.

Barbara McIntire, Dick Chapman Bow

JUPITER, Fla., Feb. 12 — Nan Berry's sparkling putting performance brought today's biggest upset as she and Billy Watts of Fort Lauderdale teamed to defeat Barbara McIntire and Dick Chapman 3 and 2 in the second round of the National Mixed Foursomes Golf Tournament.

The Quincy, Ill., golfer sank three 30 foot putts. Her prowess coupled with Watts' strong iron shots gave the two the victory on the 16th hole.

Miss McIntire, of Lake Park, Fla., and Chapman, who plays out of Pinehurst, N.C., had been favored after they carried yesterday's medal contention to 20 holes before bowing.

Defending champions Anne Richardson of Columbus, Ohio, and Jack Penrose of Miami had little trouble in defeating Mrs. Don O'Brien of Richmond, Va., and Joseph McBride of Paterson N.J., 4 and 3.

Medalists Joanne Goodwin of Haverhill, Mass., and James McHale of Philadelphia also scored an easy 5 and 4 victory over Mrs. Grant Messenger of Denton, Tex., and Frank Jones of Dallas.

Other scores today included: Mary Ann Downey, Baltimore, and Tim Holland, New York, defeated Mrs. T. E. Nolan, New Castle, Pa., and Dorsey Nevergall, Boynton Beach, Fla., 2 and 1. Mrs. J. W. Labisky, Columbus, Ohio, and Jim Raymond, Tequesta, defeated Dale Fleming, Tulsa, Okla., and Glenn Johnson, Crossfield, Md.

Dixon To Seek Legislative Post

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 12 — King Dixon, star halfback on the University of Southern Carolina football team, said today he likely will run for the Legislature from his native Laurens County.

The 21-year-old senior said he is considering seeking Democratic nomination in the June 10 primary to a seat in the State House of Representatives where he now is a page. Democratic nomination is tantamount to election.

If he runs, Dixon will be seeking to fill the place occupied in 1953 and 1956 by his father, King Dixon Sr.

He is a pre-law student. The term in the House is for two years and pays $1,000 a year.

Potomac State To Enter Tacoma Park Tournament

Tri-State Playoffs To Start Feb. 20

KEYSER, W. Va., Feb. 12 — Coach Dana G. (Horse) Lough announces that the Potomac State College basketball team will enter the new Tri-State Athletic Conference Tournament, February 20, 21, and 22 at Tacoma Park, Md. This is a Junior College tournament composed of area junior colleges.

Other college teams in the tournament are Baltimore City College, Calonsville College, Hagerstown College, Montgomery College, Shenandoah College, St. Mary's Seminary, and Wesley College.

Since Potomac State is entering the junior college tournament, it has been decided not to participate in the WVAC Tournament to be held in Buckhannon this year.

The new Tri-State Athletic Conference was formed primarily to give more publicity to the many junior colleges in the area, and also to play competition more on their own level. Before the new conference came into existence the small junior colleges were forced to play larger four-year schools, and were not in a position to give athletic scholarships on a par with four-year institutions.

The conference will not receive national attention until all colleges that are members gain membership in the National Junior College Athletic Association. Potomac State is currently in District 15 of the NJCAA with such states as North and South Carolina. Coach Lough has been petitioning the association to be transferred to District 10 alongside New Jersey, New York, Delaware and other north-eastern states. Shenandoah College also has expressed this desire.

Robertson Scores 40 In Cincinnati Win

CINCINNATI, Feb. 12 — Oscar Robertson, who finished with 40 points, broke a tight basketball game wide open in the last 10 minutes tonight as the University of Cincinnati's third-ranked Bearcats raced to a 94-77 basketball victory over Bradley, rated 13th in the nation.

Defense Style Change Aided Duke Fortunes

Switch To Zone Started Win Skein

DURHAM, N.C., Feb. 12 (AP)—"About the time we changed from a man-to-man defense to a zone we started winning."

With that, Duke Coach Harold Bradley summed up the phenomenal rise of his basketball giant killers into one of the hottest teams in the nation.

With its 60-48 drubbing of North Carolina State last night, Duke extended its winning skein to eight straight, a string of victories that started Jan. 11 with a double overtime victory over that same team.

The streak includes a 72-68 victory over West Virginia which knocked the Mountaineers from the ranks of the unbeaten; and a convincing 91-75 drubbing of last year's national championship team, North Carolina.

The 5-5 record Duke sported may not have been as bad as it seemed. The defeats included a 74-78 defeat by Kentucky; a double overtime loss to Pittsburgh and losses to South Carolina and North Carolina State in the final minutes.

Now 13-5 overall and leading the Atlantic Coast Conference at 8-2, Bradley credits the change in defense and a switch in personnel as the two chief reasons for the victory streak.

The lineup includes three guards. One, 6-2 Bucky Allen, was shifted to forward with Jim Newman, 6-6, leaving 6-5 Paul Schmidt at center. The guards are 5-11 Bobby Joe Harris and Bob Veron, a six-footer.

"We're small by present day standards but when we changed Allen to forward it gave us more scoring," Bradley explained. "Our shooting percentage has gone up. The boys are smart enough to see when the fast break won't go, then they drop back into a more deliberate style and wait for the real good shots."

ACC Scoring Race Is Close

Tar Heels Lead Team Averages

GREENSBORO, N.C., Feb. 12 (AP)—The Atlantic Coast Conference's team scoring titles for the 1957-58 season are still up for grabs, latest ACC Service Bureau figures show.

While North Carolina tops scoring with 74.7 points a game, Virginia is close behind with 71.3 and fast-improving Duke is a good third at 70.6.

In defense against scoring, Maryland is the pace-setter with an average yield of 57.6 points. North Carolina State is close on the heels of the Terps with a defensive average of 59.4.

N. C. State and Virginia have good leads in shooting accuracy. N. C. State is No. 1 in field goal shooting with 44.9 per cent, trailed by Maryland's 41.1 per cent. Virginia tops free throw accuracy with 74.4 per cent and not another team is hitting 70 per cent or better.

Texas Open Starts Today

Best Mudder May Win Tournament

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 12 (AP)—The Texas Open, oldest golf tournament on the winter tour, opens tomorrow with the best mudder obviously having the advantage. But picking the best mudder was as difficult as establishing a favorite in a wide-open field.

Ray Herbert of Sanford, Fla., defending champion, won the tournament in the rain. Mike Souchak, ex-Duke footballer with the cannon shot, set some PGA records here in 1955 when he won first money playing three rounds in a rain and mud. Jack Burke of Klamesha Lake, N. Y., who won in 1952, did it on a gooney course.

And Jimmie Demaret, the loud-dressing Texan, is called the best mudder in the game. He has been runner-up three times here.

A field of 150 will meet tomorrow in the opening round. It will include three of the winners along the winter tour—E. J. Harrison, who was champion at Tijuana, Frank Stranahan, winner of first money at Los Angeles, and Lionel Hebert, who came through at Tucson Sunday.

Cresaptown Five Avenges Loss To Bruce Quint, 44-24

Coach Speed Hanna's Cresaptown Junior High cagers avenged an earlier loss at the hands of the Bruce Junior High team yesterday by downing the visitors at Cresaptown. The score was 44 to 24.

In halting up their sixth triumph in nine games Cresaptown was paced by Gary Clingerman's 20 points. Teammate Jim McKenzie bucketed 10 tallies for the winners.

Bruce, who won the opening game of the series with Cresaptown at Westernport, 27-16, was never in the game. Bob Wilson bagged six of the losers' seven goals and wound up the afternoon's play with 17 points.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (INS)—one of the finest pitchers we've ever seen, who starred with the Reds, Dodgers and Giants? Luque won 194 games.

Luque was among the first of the many Spanish-speaking ball players sent to the majors from Cuba and by all odds the best of their all. It was he who taught Sal Maglie all that veteran knows about pitching.

Dizzy Dean undoubtedly was a wonderful pitcher, but nobody ever got more publicity, and much of it was due to his screwball antics rather than his pitching feats.

Dizzy won 150 games and lost 83 for a 644 average. But Letty Gomez, at least as capable a pitcher, won 189 and lost 102 for a 649 average and he hasn't yet come to election.

Some, we've been told, were elected for the good they have done for baseball, and some drew votes for their personal popularity. If those be sufficient criteria why not elect Al Schacht, baseball's clown prince?

There are at least a dozen pitchers in the H. of F. whose records can't compare with at least another dozen who haven't been elected.

Only eight of the 20 pitchers in the hall won more games than Red Ruffing who won 273. Burleigha Grimes, 270, and Eppa Rixey, 266, but those three failed to make the grade.

Ever hear of Carl Mays, great submariner of the Yanks and Red Sox? Carl won 205 while losing only 127 in the majors, but he didn't draw a single vote.

And how about Adolfo Luque

Fox Is Given Contract Hike

Chisox Infielder Signs For $40,000

CHICAGO, Feb. 12 (AP)—Second baseman Nellie Fox today came to terms with the Chicago White Sox for more than $40,000, highest salary ever paid by the American League club.

Fox, starting his ninth Sox season, agreed to terms with Vice President Chuck Comiskey. Nellie received "a very substantial increase," Comiskey said.

The Sox also received the signed contract of pitcher, Bob Keegan, whose 10-8 record last season included the league's only no-hitter, against Washington Aug. 20.

Although Fox' salary was not disclosed, it was reported the biggest in White Sox history and comparable to the previous top of $40,000 third baseman George Kell was said to have received when acquired from the Boston Red Sox in 1954.

Behind The News In Business
by Leslie Gould

The character of the once $125 million Penn-Texas Corp. is being changed right before the eyes of the shareholders, the SEC and the New York Stock Exchange.

The change is being carried out by an executive committee of three, two of whom were never voted into office by the owners of the business, the stockholders.

More significantly, the change is being done without a prior shareholder vote.

This goes for the company's involvement in the unsuccessful, but very expensive, proxy fight on the Fairbanks, Morse & Co.

This goes for the sale of four major subsidiaries and a fifth affiliated oil venture.

This goes for the sales and leasebacks of plants of subsidiaries, carrying commitments for long terms of years for millions of dollars.

One of the sale and leaseback contracts is for a plant of a subsidiary just sold, but with the buyer committed to honoring only two years of the 25 year lease for $520,000 a year. This means that Penn-Texas is left holding the bag for rent after two years if the company is moved, as the new buyer has indicated.

These sale and leaseback contracts are a phenomena of the times and, as in the case of Penn-Texas, are as binding on the corporation during their life as a debt.

When Penn-Texas was being developed by company take overs by Leopold D. Silberstein from a run down coal company into a heterogeneous empire, shareholders did get to vote on many of the take overs. One of these was Liberty Products.

When it has come around to selling these properties, this course is not followed, although the Stock Exchange, for one, had a requirement where the character of business is materially changed shareholders must give their approval.

In addition to Liberty, which is not a 400 successful aircraft parts maker, Penn-Texas has sold Industrial Brownhoist, builder of heavy machinery, for $3 million compared to a cost of nearly twice that.

Hallicrafters, Chicago radio and electronic enterprise, for $3 million, also about half what P-T paid for the property.

Crescent Co., makers of insulated cables, for $1,100,000, which represents only a quarter of a million under the original price.

Tex-Penn Oil, originally an oil partnership with William L. Moody III, for $1,100,000 net. There are no comparable figures immediately available as to the original cost.

Liberty Products was sold for $1,075,000, but to this must be added the $4,100,000 received for the plant in the lease back deal. This would be a combined sale price of $5,175,000, against nearly $2 million paid in stock for the company.

What Penn-Texas received in the Liberty sale and leaseback may prove a minus quantity, if the plant is vacated in two years and no immediate tenant is found. For Penn-Texas must meet the $520,000 a year lease requirements.

These deals are the price Penn-Texas must pay for Silberstein's ambitions to grab Fairbanks, Morse, which has cost the company millions and a drop in the P-T common stock from a high of $22 7/8 to a recent low of $2 7/8. The stock is now around $4 1/2.

Opening lead: King of diamonds.

In tournament play where each deal represents a separate contest, strange risks are at times taken by a contestant determined to obtain the best possible result.

In trying for a two trick set, East resorted to daring tactics in the defense of today's hand, but his strategy boomeranged. At all tables the four heart contract was reached. West opened the king of diamonds and in response to his partner's signal continued with the ace and a small one which was ruffed.

A one trick set could be recorded merely by laying down the ace of spades, but East was not satisfied with a 100 point set which appeared to be quite normal. Such action would probably result in an average result, for it was reasonable to assume that the other North-South pairs would also reach a game contract and be set one trick.

That South held the king of spades was likely, but if West could be found with the queen of spades there was a chance to beat the contract two tricks. East therefore returned a low spade, South won with the king and extracted trump.

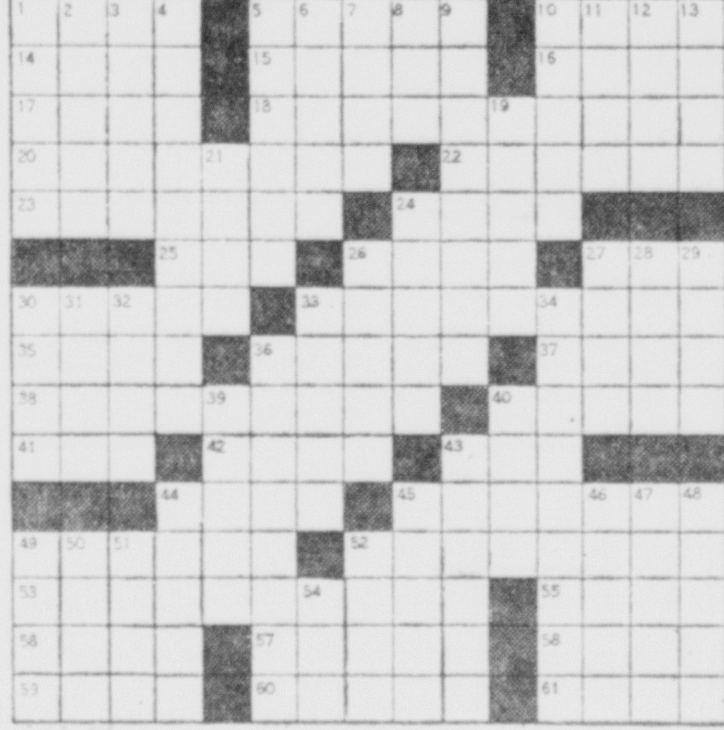

Declarer now realized that the defense had given him a chance to bring home his contract. If West had the king of clubs, a finesse in that suit would permit declarer to dispose of his spade loser on the ace of clubs.

However, South decided to play East for the king of clubs. This was based on a psychological factor. When East underled the ace of spades (the setting trick), he must have had protection in the form of a solid stopper in clubs. Without the king of clubs, East's failure to cash would have been almost an act of foolhardiness.

Declarer therefore ran all the trumps, reducing his hand to the club and the queen of spades and dummy's to the ace-queen of clubs. East's last three cards were the ace of spades and king-ten of clubs, and he could not discard without giving up the ghost.

Market Fails To Reflect
Eisenhower's Optimism

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (AP)—An expression of confidence by President Eisenhower that the economic downturn is about over was followed by a stock market decline today, the sixth in a row.

Wall Street sources said the professional element in trading circles was disappointed Eisenhower brought forth no new, dramatic move to lick the recession.

It was noted that his optimism is not matched by views of some well known economists and that, meanwhile, industrial and business news remains poor.

Because of Lincoln's birthday many financial institutions were closed under semi-holiday conditions. Only 1,107 issues were traded, making today's the narrowest market since last Oct. 3.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 30 cents to $159.50, the industrials down 60 cents, the rails down 50 cents and the utilities off 10 cents.

Among the 15 most active stocks there was an even split of 7 gains and 7 losers with 1 unchanged.

Royal Dutch again headed the list, off 1/4 at 38 1/4 on 64,400 shares. Second was Rexall, up 1/4 at 11 1/4 on 32,900 shares. Third was Schering, up 1/4 at 37 1/4 on 30,700 shares.

Next came U. S. Steel, up 1/4 at 55 1/4 and Standard Oil (N.J.), off 1/2 at 49 1/4.
